Volunteers from Lebanon, Jordan, Syria, Egypt, Israel and Palestine, please note the contacts below for placement in International Voluntary Service programs:

General background: YAP has been involved in the Middle East since 1988, through variety of activities, including study trips, youth exchanges, seminars, conferences and international voluntary workcamps. Until 1997, when the Palestinian organization IPYL was established, and later one became the first Arab/south branch of this international youth and voluntarism movement. Currently, YAP has a branch in Haifa-Israel and associated member in Alexandria-Egypt. YAP also have partners in Lebanon, Syria and Jordan. In August 2006 a special study trip to those countries will take place in order to officially establish concrete contacts. As the only organization in the Middle East that works in the field of voluntarism (as per the global standards, ethics, themes and values; Alliance, CCIVS and SCI networks) IPYL is responsible for almost all the incoming and outgoing placements of volunteers from and to the region, including the preparation and the evaluation of the volunteers work and achievements at the end of each season.

IPYL, had already assisted in the creation of an Israeli branch of YAP, Associated group in Egypt and partners in Lebanon, Syria and Jordan. last year, together with those contacts we established "YAP Middle East working group" which we hope to be the first regional network that will introduce and organize the voluntary work and the youth actions in the different countries in the region, including the Gulf area.
